It increases collagen synthesis of cells with its antioxidant content; It helps the skin maintain its elasticity. In addition to preventing the formation of fine lines and wrinkles, it helps heal spots and wounds that occur after sun exposure. With its antibacterial, antiviral and antimicrobial content, it protects your skin against bacteria, fungi, viruses and other pathogens and supports the immune system. It reduces the symptoms of skin problems that irritate your skin, such as eczema and psoriasis. It relieves itching while preventing the formation of swelling and blisters caused by skin inflammations.

Aroma: Coconut

Composition: It is obtained by squeezing the white flesh of the coconut fruit using the cold press method.

Extraction Process: Cold pressing

Origin: Turkey

Container quantities: Depends on requirement of the clients

Cautions: Coconut oil has a very high comedogenic rating (4). This can cause pores to become clogged. It may cause acne and blackhead formation on oily skin. The pH value of human skin varies between 4.0 - 7.0 degrees. Long-term application of coconut oil, which has a high pH value (7.0 - 8.0 pH), to the skin may cause the skin's natural pH balance to be disrupted and the skin's protective acid mantle to erode. This situation reduces the skin's self-renewal and protection capacity. For external use. Before applying to the skin, test on a small area on the arm. Keep out of reach of children. Be sure to consult your doctor before using it during pregnancy.

Storage: It is in solid/creamy state below 24 °C. Keep away from direct sunlight and moisture. Store at room temperature.
